SECTION A: General Information

How to use this guide

Section A provides general information. Section B is a list of examples of sources. Read both sections to gain an understanding of how to reference.

A basic reference contains the following:

- Author name/ surname, initials. (date of publication) Title. Place of publication: Publisher.
- In some instances, it may also include a website address, an access date and page numbers.

A citation consists of an author and a date. A citation may also include page numbers for direct quotes.

Once you have gathered all the information on the technical detail, and you need to compile a reference, you must refer to Section B. Choose the type of source from the illustrated examples that will show you how to cite and reference that particular source. You do not need to memorise how to reference all the sources listed, but rather use this guide as a writing companion.

When using an online reference generator, you will find that the reference may not be the same as this referencing guide. You will have to edit your references so that the structure is the same as the examples in this guide.

Tip: Always cite and capture your reference immediately when a source is used. This is the best way to avoid plagiarism. This is also the best working method, as it relieves you from the tedious and often impossible task of having to go back to your completed work and again search for the sources you have used to be able to reference them.

Reasons for referencing

Giving credit to the original author by referencing sources is the only way to use other people's work without plagiarising. Refer to the documents called "A Student Guide to Plagiarism Avoidance" and "A Student Guide to Plagiarism Sanctions", which you can find on eLearn.

You need to understand the sanctions that are applicable if you are found guilty of plagiarism.

Which referencing system has been approved by the IMM Graduate School?

The IMM Graduate School follows the Harvard Referencing System in the listing of sources for academic texts and NOT APA, Chicago, etc. Also note: The IMM Graduate School Harvard referencing system is NOT the same as any other Harvard referencing system, including the MS Word version.

As it is not possible to reproduce a complete set of Harvard Referencing System options in this document, only some basic examples are provided as a guideline.

When should sources be referenced?

Whenever words or ideas are borrowed from or directly quoted from other sources, the source needs to be acknowledged. The following situations almost always require referencing:

- Whenever quotes from a third party are used.
- Whenever paraphrasing is used, you still need to reference; you may be using your own words, but you are still using the ideas of another author to whom you need to give credit.
- Whenever an idea that someone else has already expressed is used.
- Whenever specific reference is made to the work of another author.
- Whenever someone else's work has been critical in the development of your own ideas.
- Whenever illustrations, graphs, numbers/ statistics, tables or images obtained from other sources are inserted in the text.

All assignments and dissertations produced by the IMM Graduate School students must include in-text citations as well as a matching list of references. These two elements of the referencing system always go hand in hand. This means that for each in-text citation, a corresponding entry should be included in the reference list at the end of the document. The reverse is also true: for each entry in the list of references, an in-text reference should be included in the text.

Do NOT use 'Bibliography' as a heading for the reference list.

What is a reference list?

- A reference list is a list of all the information sources (references) that have been used and therefore cited in the text.
- A reference list appears at the end of the assignment or report, on its own page, and before any addendums.
- A reference list appears on a page with the heading 'Reference List'.
- The reference list contains all the necessary information to help the reader find the original work used and cited in a submission.
- The reference list items must be arranged alphabetically by author surnames or other copyright holder names.
- Use the same font as the body of your submission. Left-align the list and leave a line space between each entry. Do not use bullets or numbers.
- The same source must not be listed more than once.
- The pages of the reference list are not numbered.
- Never use an & (ampersand) in a reference list – the word 'and' should always be used, as the '&' is for use in citations only.

Example of a reference list

This is an example of what an alphabetical reference list should look like. It should always appear at the END of your assignment / report / thesis:

Arya, C. (2022) Design of Structural Elements: Concrete, Steelwork, Masonry and Timber Designs to Eurocodes. 4th ed. Abingdon, UK: CRC Press.

Booth, W.C., Colomb, G.G., Williams, J.M., Bizup, J. and Fitzgerald, W.T. (2016) The Craft of Research. 4th ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press.

Bowlin, W.F., Renner, C.J. and Rives, J.M. (2003) "A DEA study of gender equity in executive compensation", Journal of the Operation Research Society, vol. 54, no. 7, pp. 751-760.

Smith, D. (2021) "House price markets", The Times, 26 June 2021, p. 25.

What is in-text referencing?

- Every time a reference is made to someone else's work in a document, the author's surname and the publication date of the work should be included within the text at the point where the author's ideas have been discussed. This is called citing the author's work.
- You cite either at the beginning of a piece of text or at the end. For example, Collins (2024) stated that it was a fact ... Or ... was stated as a fact (Collins, 2024).
- Remember: When in-text citation is used and there is more than one author involved, the authors' names should be listed in the order they appear on the title page of the book or article.
- The in-text reference does not contain the initials of the authors, only the surname and the publication date.
- The page number is only included with a direct quotation.
- The term et al. (and others) may only be used the second time the work of four or more authors is being cited. When the work is cited for the first time, all the authors should be mentioned. This term is always preceded by the surname of the first of the authors' names.

- '&' may be used for bracketed in-text citations of more than one author. Example: Social media is here to stay (Jones & Frank, 2016), or Social media is here to stay (Jones and Frank, 2016). You must use one option, i.e. either & OR and consistently in the document.
- A citation should have a corresponding reference item linked to it – if not, marks will be deducted.

Note: Where possible, real examples of online sources have been used. To practice referencing, you can access these sources to see how the information was found to compile the reference.

Fictitious examples are used to demonstrate most of the in-text citations.

Case study – Does one reference a case study?

You must reference a case study, no matter what source it is from. When you use information obtained directly from the case study or when your answer contains the words “according to the case study ...”, you must cite and reference the case study. Cite at the end of three or four sentences in your answer when using information from the case study, not after every sentence.

Glossary of abbreviations used in referencing

Abbreviation	Meaning	Example
ed.	edition	2 nd ed.
(ed.) or (eds)	(editor) or (editors)	Smith, J. (ed.) (2024)
et al.	and others	Smith, et al. (2024)
p. or pp.	page or pages	(2024, p. 1) or (2024, pp. 1-2)
vol.	volume
no.	number
n.d.	no date	Smith (n.d.)
pers. comm.	personal communication
DOI	Digital Object Identifier

NOTE: The order in which authors' names appear in your reference or citation must always be the order in which these names have been mentioned in the original publication.

SECTION B: Examples of sources and how to reference them

1. Deconstructing a book reference

1.1 Books in general

In-text:

Example when the author is mentioned at the beginning of a sentence:

Author/s (year) stated that the ... (Note: Only the year appears in brackets)

Example: Smith and Jones (2021) stated that pollution is on the increase.

Example when reference to the author(s) appears at the end of the sentence:

Research has indicated that there are more national disasters happening now than 10 years ago (Smith & Jones, 2021). (Note – authors and year appear in brackets, and the full-stop denoting the end of the sentence is inserted after the citation at the end of the sentence.)

If there is more than one author, their names appear in the bracket using the ampersand (&).

As previously mentioned, you may also use 'and' but you must be consistent.

Example: Pollution is on the increase (Smith & Jones, 2021).

Reference list:

Author, A. (year of publication in brackets) Title of Book in italics. Edition. Place/ town/ city of publication: Publisher.

Note: You only mention the edition from the second edition onwards. Edition is not mentioned for a first edition.

Example: Smith, A. and Jones, B. (2021) Pollution. Timbuktu: Inside Publishing.

1.2 Book: Single author

In-text:

Wright (2019) explained the importance of proper referencing techniques...

Or

It is critical that all sources are always properly referenced (Wright, 2019).

Reference list:

Wright, H. (2019) The Principles of Referencing. 2nd ed. Timbuktu: Inside Publishing.

1.3 Book: Two or three authors

In-text:

Rundle, Booyesen and Dube (2018) stated that the interpretation of online messages could have different meanings depending on their receiver.

Or

Online messages can be interpreted in various ways (Rundle, Booyesen & Dube, 2018).

Reference list:

Rundle, D., Booyesen, H. and Dube, P. (2018) The Interpretation of Online Messages. Timbuktu: Inside Publishing.

1.4 Book: Four or more authors

Note: The first opportunity to cite a source with more than three authors requires you to mention all the authors.

In-text:

Bruwer, Wright, Prince and Victor (2019) stated ...

Or

Study guides should be written in the correct format (Bruwer, Wright, Prince & Victor, 2019).

After the first mention, et al. is used: Bruwer et al. (2019) stated ...

Or

Study guides should be written in the correct format (Bruwer et al., 2019).

Note: There is a full stop after et al.

Reference list:

Bruwer, A., Wright, P.R., Prince, M.C. and Victor, A. (2019) The How-to Guide to Writing a Study Guide. Johannesburg: Academic Solutions Group.

Note: The use of et al. in the reference list is not allowed as all the authors need to be mentioned.

1.5 Book: Author unknown

Note: Avoid anonymous sources because these lack credibility when quoted in academic documents. If, however, there is no alternative, the following applies:

In-text:

Anonymous (2017) stated that ...

Or

... the history of the world is full of unexpected surprises (Anonymous, 2017).

Reference list:

Anonymous. (2017) A Journey to the End of the World. Timbuktu: Imagination Express.

1.6 Book: One or more editors (where specific authors of chapters are not mentioned)

In-text:

The same format applies as with the author examples above:

Mashego (2021) ...

Or

... (Mashego, 2021).

Reference list:

One editor:

Mashego, H. (ed.) (2021) Glassmaking. 3rd ed. Springfield: Watson.

Two or three editors:

Bevan, M. and Hugo, J. (eds) (2020) Towards the Academic Future. London: Academic Press Association.

Note: As above use (ed.) or (eds) in the reference list after the last author's initials.

The above example would also apply in situations where a number of contributors are listed who added to the book content, but their names are not linked to specific chapters. In this situation, only the editors are mentioned in the citation and in the reference list.

1.7 Book: Single editor (where authors of specific chapters are mentioned)

Example: The textbook 'Views on Global Warming' edited by J.M. Thompson may contain a chapter written by N. Sebetsi from which you want to quote:

In-text:

Sebetsi (2019) recounted various approaches to emission reduction ...

Or

A programme aimed at emission reduction may have a number of consequences we are not aware of (Sebetsi, 2019).

Note: The in-text citation does not carry the name of the editor; it must be the name of the author of that particular chapter, if it is given.

Reference list:

Note: In the reference list, the chapter author's name is followed by the date, the title of the chapter, then the name of the editor and the title of the book, the place of publication and the publisher.

Sebetsi, N. (2019) "Emission Reduction" in Thompson, J.M. (ed.) Views on Global Warming. 2nd ed. Timbaktu: Inside Publishing.

1.8 Book: Two or more editors (where authors of specific chapters are mentioned)

In-text (the chapter author is indicated):

Bick (2018) maintained that ...

Or

Branding is essential when launching a new product (Bick, 2018).

Reference list:

Bick, G. (2018) "Brand equity and brand valuation" in Klopper, H.B. and North, E. (eds) (2020) Brand Management. Cape Town: Pearson Education SA.

Note: In the reference list example above, there are two different publication dates: the date on which the contributing author wrote the chapter and the date on which the edited book was published.

1.9 Book: Reprint in a different form

In-text:

Tolkien (1937) said that this was a story ...

Or

This was a story ... (Tolkien, 1937).

Reference list:

Tolkien, J.R.R. (1937) The Hobbit. Reprint, London: HarperCollins, 2016.

1.10 Book: Organisation as author

In-text:

The Natal Rugby Association (1980) states that Stefan Terblanche played for the Sharks ...

Or

Stefan Terblanche played for the Sharks ... (Natal Rugby Association, 1980).

Reference list:

Natal Rugby Association. (1980) 80th Anniversary Yearbook. Natal Rugby Association.

1.11 eBook

In-text

Attia (2018) stated that ...

Or

... are the next big frontier (Attia, 2018).

Reference list:

Author, A. (year of publication) Title of Book. Edition. Available from: URL address [Accessed on date].

Attia, S. (2018) Net Zero Energy Buildings (NZEB): Concepts, Frameworks and Roadmap for Project Analysis and Implementation. Oxford: Elsevier Science & Technology. Available from: <https://ebookcentral.proquest.com/lib/limerickit/detail.action?docID=5331603> [Accessed on 15 April 2021].

1.12 Dictionary or encyclopaedia

In-text:

The Macquarie Dictionary (2020) defines ...

Reference list:

Note: No entry is needed in the reference list.

1.13 Book with chapter/ page numbers used for direct quotes only

Note: Page numbers are only required when a direct quote is used. (For more information see the How to use direct quotes section of this guide.)

In-text:

Wright (2017, p. 100) stated that "Various standardised systems of referencing exist."

Or

".... various standardised systems of referencing exist" (Wright, 2017, p. 100).

Reference list:

Wright, H. (2017). The Principles of Referencing. Timbuktu: Inside Publishing.

2. Deconstructing a journal citation

Journal article examples – specific examples pertaining to any journals.

2.1 Journal articles in general

In-text: Author/s (year of publication) or (Author/s, year of publication)

Reference list: Author, A. (year of publication) "Title of article", Title of Journal, volume, volume publication number, page numbers.

Note: There is a comma after the article title, after the journal name, after the volume number and after the number of the journal publication. There will usually be more than 1 page involved in the reference of a journal and the abbreviation is pp. # - #.

2.2 Journal article: Single author

In-text:

Meindl (2019) suggested that advanced computing ...

Or

Advanced computing has changed the world of business (Meindl, 2019).

Reference list:

Meindl, D. (2019) "Chips for advanced computing", Scientific American, vol. 257, no. 4, pp. 54-62.

2.3 Journal article: Two authors

In-text:

Oosthuizen and McDonald (2020) provided evidence on the growth of online marking ...

Or

Online marking is the way of the future (Oosthuizen & McDonald, 2020).

Reference list:

Oosthuizen, D. and McDonald, G. (2020) "The online marking process: an overview", The African Journal of Academics, vol. 10, no. 2, pp. 97-99.

2.4 Journal article: Three authors

In-text:

Simpson, Thomas and Enslin (2019) explained that mobile technology ...

Or

Mobile technology has made a huge difference to how companies are managed (Simpson, Thomas & Enslin, 2019).

Reference list:

Simpson, J.A., Thomas, S.A. and Enslin, D.J. (2019) "The role of mobile technology in the media plan", Journal of International Marketing, vol. 17, no. 2, pp. 63-65.

2.5 Journal article: Four or more authors

The first citing of a source with four or more authors requires you to mention all the authors and, after that, you may use only the first surname followed by et al.

In-text:

Shapiro, Bethu, Ndlovu and Wilcox (2017) provided an analysis of ...

Or

A new media planning format has been introduced in 2022 (Shapiro, Bethu, Ndlovu & Wilcox, 2023).

After the first mention:

In-text: Shapiro et al. (2023) provided an analysis of ...

Or

A new media planning format has been introduced in 2022 (Shapiro et al., 2023).

Reference list:

Shapiro, D., Bethu, R., Ndlovu, B. and Wilcox, S.R. (2023) "A new media planning format", Journal of Media planning, vol. 10, no. 5, pp. 454-65.

Note: The use of et al. in the reference list is not allowed as all the authors need to be mentioned.

2.6 Journal article: Electronic (volume and issue numbers available)*In text:

Fang Chi and Sinha (2024) ...

Or

... (Fang Chi and Sinha, 2024).

Reference list:

Fang-Chi, L. and Sinha, J. (2024) "How social media usage and the fear of missing out impact minimalistic consumption", European Journal of Marketing, vol. 58, no. 4, pp. 1083-1114.

Available from: <https://www.emerald.com/insight/content/doi/10.1108/EJM-08-2022-0641/full/html> [Accessed on 30 May 2024].

Note: An alternative to the URL (as shown above) is to use the DOI number. A DOI is a digital Object Identifier which is assigned to give an article a permanent web address.

If you prefer to use the DOI in your reference, then do so as follows (no full stop at the end of the URL and because it is a permanent link no date of access is needed):

Fang-Chi, L. and Sinha, J. (2024) "How social media usage and the fear of missing out impact minimalistic consumption", European Journal of Marketing, vol. 58, no. 4, pp. 1083-1114. Available from: doi: <https://doi.org/10.1108/EJM-08-2022-0641>

2.7 Journal article: Electronic (no volume and issue numbers available)*In-text:

Bouwer (2020) explained that social media is a great contributor to commercial processes.

Or

Social media has been a great contributor to commercial processes (Bouwer, 2020).

Reference list:

Available from: <http://www.job.int.com/rosm-bbe/fulltext.121544162/PDF> [Accessed on 23 May 2021].

Note: Provide full location details if these are necessary to find the document OR just the main site details.

3. Newspaper articles

Newspaper articles are not scientific sources and should not be used as the basis for building an argument on, but rather seen as data which may be used sparingly to support scientific sources, i.e. as background information.

3.1 Newspapers in general

In-text:

Author (year of publication) states ... Or (Author, year of publication).

Reference list:

Author, A. (year of publication) "Title of the article", Title of the newspaper, date, page number.

3.2 Newspaper: Print

In-text:

Roos (2021) urged all to treat resources with respect.

Or

All humans should treat the earth with respect (Roos, 2021).

Reference list:

Roos, M. (2021) "Don't turn your back on Mother Earth", The Star, 8 June 2021, p. 10.

3.3 Newspaper: Website/ Electronic database

In-text:

Hilts (2021) stated that emotions are often hard to control.

Or

Emotions are often hard to control Hilts (2021).

Reference list:

Hilts, P.J. (2021) "In anticipating their emotions, most people flunk out", The New York Times, 16 February. Available from: <http://www.nytimes.com> [Accessed on 19 February 2021].

3.4 Newspaper: No author

In-text:

It was stated in The Star (11 June 2021, p. 4) that...

Reference list: NO entry required.

4. Website

The use of websites/ web pages as a source should be minimised in academic papers and is often best avoided.

4.1 Websites in general

Provide the website details only once and not repeatedly for the use of the subdirectories within the same domain, for example:

www.goodyear.co.za/clients/status and www.goodyear.co.za/clients/preferences, supply only the main web address, e.g. www.goodyear.co.za/

Note: For some articles/ web pages it may be confusing regarding what date to use:

Article has an author and a date – Author surname (date) or (Author surname, date).

Article has an author but no date – Author surname (n.d.) or (Author surname, n.d.).

Article has no author and no date – Website name (n.d.).

In-text: Author/s or institution (year of publication) or (Author/s or institution, year of publication)

Reference list: Author, A/ Website name. (year of publication/ last updated) Name of article. Available from: URL address [Accessed on date].

4.2 Web page: No author (the name of the website is used)

In-text:

The World Trade Organization (n.d.) stated that it is the only global international organisation dealing with the rules of trade between different countries.

Or

Case studies often do not have numbered pages. When you use a direct quote from these, you will need to do it as follows:

In-text:

For example: According to Macarthur (2014, no pagination) "... this can be expected to happen in most marketing campaigns".

OR

"... this can be expected to happen in most marketing campaigns" (Macarthur, 2024, no pagination).

Reference list:

You do not put the words 'no pagination' in the reference list.

Note: In some cases, case studies may have been created by the examiner and no name of author or any other information required for referencing is provided. In situations like this, no referencing of the case study is required. However, you must reference the source as either the study guide (as above) or the assessment paper (below).

Reference list:

Bureau of Standards, SA. (2018) Child seat regulations – general requirements, SA 4455.I-2018. SA: Bureau of Standards.

18. Secondary sources

Specific examples pertaining any secondary sources:

When you cite an author (the primary source) who refers to or quotes another author (the secondary source), this must be clearly indicated in the text (even though this practice should be kept to a minimum as the preferred option is for you to have read the original source).

In-text:

Chambers (2019, p. 25) gives Whiteley's (2015) definition of emotion as "a response to situations of one specific type ..."

Or

"Emotion is a response to situations of one specific type of experience" (Whiteley, 2015 in Chambers, 2019, p. 25).

Reference list:

In this example, the reference used must be Chambers (2019), not Whiteley (2015). (Note: Chambers is the primary source and Whiteley is the secondary source.)

A reference list entry must be made for the source you have read (the primary source) and must not refer to the secondary source, as you have not read the secondary source.

Chambers, P.K. (2019) Your Emotions Revealed. New York: Lacrima and Ductule.

19. How to use direct quotes in text

Direct quotes should be kept to the minimum – only for use when paraphrasing will significantly reduce the impact of the words in the direct quote.

Provide the page number after the date. Use inverted commas to enclose the direct text. For short quotations (of less than 40 words), use a brief phrase to introduce the quotation.

For example:

As Neville (2020, p. 101) emphasises, “ ... you should cite all sources and present full details of these in your list of references.”

For longer quotations (of 40 words or more) a block quotation is required, without quotation marks, but clearly indented to indicate these words are not your own.

For example:

Neville (2020, p. 101) comments that: It can sometimes be difficult, if not impossible, to avoid using some of the author’s original words, particularly those that describe or label phenomena. However, you need to avoid copying out what the author said, word for word. Choose words that you feel give a true impression of the author’s original ideas or action and use these in your writing when paraphrasing such content. Paraphrasing allows the student to convey the message of the primary author without changing the message of this author.

Therefore, treat the direct quote as follows:

- Slightly smaller font and indented from the left margin to distinguish it from the rest of the text.
- Also add the page number from which the quote was sourced.
- Do not put the page numbers in the reference list.

20. How to cite and reference figures, graphs, tables and images

20.1 Tables

Always put the label ‘table’ and the table name or description and citation before the table, and number your tables in the order they appear in your work. For example:

In-text:

Table 1: Differences between UK and US English (Source: IMM Graduate School, date)

UK English	US English

Reference list:

IMM Graduate School. (2024) Differences Between UK and US English. South Africa: IMM Graduate School.

20.2 Figures, graphs, images

Always put the label ‘figure’ and the figure name or description and citation after the figure, and number your figures in the order they appear in your work. For example:

In-text:

Figure 1: Category sales of three quality type series in the first for months of 2023
(Source: South African Bureau of Business, 2023)

21. Referencing AI-Generated Content

As artificial intelligence (AI) tools, such as ChatGPT, become increasingly integrated into academic research and writing, it is essential to reference these sources correctly to maintain academic integrity and transparency. This guide outlines how to cite AI-generated content using the Harvard Referencing System.

21.1 When to Cite AI-Generated Content

Students must reference AI-generated content when:

- Directly quoting text from an AI tool (e.g., using a passage exactly as generated by ChatGPT).
- Paraphrasing or summarising information obtained from an AI tool.
- Including screenshots or excerpts of AI-generated responses in assignments.

However, AI-generated content does not need to be referenced if it is only used for brainstorming ideas or improving writing clarity (e.g., grammar and phrasing suggestions without directly incorporating AI-generated text in the assessment document).

21.2 Harvard Referencing Format for AI-Generated Content

Reference List Entry

Format:

Author/publisher of the AI tool, Year. Tool name (Version) [Type]. Available from: URL [Accessed date].

Example:

OpenAI, 2025. ChatGPT (Version 3.5) [Large language model]. Available from: <https://chat.openai.com/> [Accessed 20 March 2025].

In-Text Citation

Format: (Author, Year)

Example:

(OpenAI, 2025)

Alternatively, if incorporating AI-generated content within a sentence:

According to OpenAI (2025), generative AI can assist in synthesising large amounts of information efficiently.
